OPPONENTS OF BALDWIN SEEK CENSURE VOTE

For Government Attitude on Bilbao Blockade.

FIGHT CERTAIN

By FREDERICK KUH
United Press Staff Correspondent
London, April 13 (U.P.)—Labor party leaders, constituting the official opposition, have decided to move a vote of censure against the government tomorrow for its attitude on the Bilbao blockade. It was learned today.

Regardless of the censure motion whose defeat was assured—a bitter political fight seemed certain against the decision to recognize the Spanish Nationalist blockade of Bilbao as a "special situation."

Conservatives, discussing the problem outside the house of commons called the government's decision "a wise gesture of cautious neutrality." Labor men used such terms as "cowardly surrender."

There were reports in political circles that the government was influenced not only by diplomatic caution but by strong pressure from navy chiefs. The navy men were represented, as feeling that opposition to the blockade Bilbao, where mines and not warships constitute the chief hazard, was not worth the risk involved.

Comment from Spanish Loyalist sources was of bitter tone. At Valencia, the United Press correspondent reported, official sources were astounded by the government's attitude. They held that submission to the Nationalist blockade constituted in fact an agreement with the blockade, and they recalled bitterly how British warships hastened to Malaga, when that big seaport fell into Nationalist hands, with loads of food. Now thousands of women and children refugees at Bilbao, they said, are hungry.

Encourages Aggression
They suggested, too, that what they regarded as a surrender to the Nationalists and to their Nazi-Fascist backers meant not a victory for peace but an encouragement of further aggression.

German Nazis and Italian Fascists on the other hand, were disappointed because Great Britain did not formally recognize the Nationalist as belligerents with the right to blockade ports.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in a speech last night at Liverpool further developed the government's views on Spanish problems.

He issued another stern warning—this time that if foreign intervention in Spain did not cease at the moment the new control plan to enforce neutrality became effective, Britain would view the situation thus created with "the gravest concern."

Similar expressions have been made at recurrent intervals in past months, in the government's effort to preserve as great a measure of neutrality as it could in a difficult situation.

Eden spoke earnestly in defending the government's "live and let live" policy.

"If the conflict in Spain is to be regarded not a testing ground for national rivalries in intervention but as a field for cooperation in non-intervention," he said, "the trials the Spanish people are now undergoing may lead not to sharpening antagonisms but to a realization of the advantages of cooperation."

U. S. LEADS WITH AIRLINERS

London, April 13 (U.P.)—The British empire has climbed to second place in the world in civil flying. Air ministry figures show that the United States has 9,229 planes, including 473 liners; the British empire has 2,763 planes, including 412 liners.

RED TAPE OF 1887 UNTANGLED

Blanford, Mass., April 13 (U.P.)—Owing to a tangle of legal red tape, this town has just found it possible to use for school purposes the $284 annual income from a trust fund established by Mrs. Jane Taggart in 1887.

The coronation procession route will be six and a quarter miles, 2½ miles longer than the route taken by George V in 1911.

Social Security Numbers Booming the Tattoo Trade

Chicago, April 13 (U.P.)—Sailors, stevedores and showboaters no longer have a corner on the tattoo market.

Social security numbers have changed all that.

With universal fingerprinting still in the office and dental charts used mainly by the army and navy, "the man in the street" has accepted social security numbers as a handy means of identification.

But men alone cannot claim the distinction of a fancy social security number from its beak. Women, too, have realized the certainty of this new means of identification.

"Why," said "Texas Jack" shifting his celluloid design mask about a customer's hair, "I have plenty of business now. A couple of years ago things looked bad for the tattooing profession. Today it's in a boom."

One day last week, "Texas Jack"—who claimed no cognomen—declared, 40 men from a large industrial plant came to him to have the "eagle in three colors" and social security numbers etched on their forearms.

"That made 43 for the day," he said, "swirling his electric needle around the outline of a shield. "This," he commented, "makes my sixth today—and it's only 11 a. m."

"More women being tattooed now than I ever saw," another tattooist, located in a loop barber shop, said. "Even if short sleeves are the style and short skirts are coming back."

SHELDON

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

PREACHED FROM JAIL CELL

FROM behind the narrow slatted window of his jail cell, Hans Tausen continued to preach the revolutionary doctrines of Luther to the massed populace outside. It was the time of the Reformation and Luther's triumph in Germany, when this young Danish friar took up the cause of the German protestant and spread his new teachings through Denmark.

Born in 1494, a peasant boy, Tausen was educated in the new humanism at the University of Leyden. Well versed in Hebrew and Latin, he translated the Bible into the Danish language, and he was the first Danish priest to use his native tongue in services.

When he returned to Denmark from Leyden, he was imprisoned, and from his jail cell he preached the new doctrine to the people. He was released later, and in 1526 King Frederick I made him one of 14 chaplains. In 1542 he was appointed Bishop of Ribe. He held this office until his death in 1561.

In 1936 Denmark issued a set of stamps commemorating the fourth centennial of the Reformation, and portraying Tausen on two values.

Jewish Meetings in Germany Banned

Berlin, April 13 (U.P.)—The German police played an absolute 60-day ban today on Jewish meetings of any sort, with the exception of worship at synagogues.

No explanation was offered. Police declined to divulge the reason for the action, even to the leaders of Jewish organizations.

The first result was that members of Jewish athletic clubs which had accepted invitations to track and field events with Jewish sports clubs in other countries cancelled the engagements. They were unable to practice.

Jewish students were perturbed. They said their new policy of holding recent meetings might have caused the restrictions.

The effect of the ban, however, was such that it was now as if Jews got together, they might had under the ban.

Some Jews said they were afraid the order might mean a repressive measure would be taken against them by the Nazi authorities, who they said were used to the necessity of keeping their followers in a tight line.

Denial of the police order might mean confiscation of property, and delivery of offenders and concentration camps, many Jews feared.
